Podcast Production Company Launches

New podcast content company launches with vast resources of media experience and talent.

HOLLYWOOD, California. January 1, 2020

No One Else Media is launched as a podcast content creation company by Executive Producer Conal O'Herlihy p.g.a.

Executive Producer Conal O'Herlihy p.g.a. is happy to announce the realization of No One Else Media, a Podcast Content Creation Production Company. Building upon a 25 year career in Broadcast Television, Conal has leveraged his experience to create this latest venture.

As the podcasting is expected to surge to a $1 Billion a year industry in 2020, viable production companies are needed. No One Else Media is utilizing a vast network of television writers and producers to produce cutting edge audio pod-experiences.

No One Else Media will serve the podcasting market in several pod-genres including Social Impact, True Crime, Historical Military, Historical (general) and branded podcasts. No One Else Media will deliver high quality in audio production matched with superior storytelling and narrative expertise. A full slate of podcast series is already in production with additional series in development.

Conal O'Herlihy p.g.a. produced many non-fiction television series for networks such as History Channel, Discovery Network, National Geographic, TLC, and Military Channel. He has also produced international television for Universal Studios in Japan.

No One Else Media has partnered with Central City Studios production facility in Canoga Park, California and the new Podcast Studio is being constructed.

Stay tuned for details and announcements of existing and new podcasts.
